Inspection Judgements

The extent to which the pupils contribute to and benefit from the Catholic life of the school.

- Pupils show a good knowledge and understanding of the school's Mission Statement and also understand the part they play within it.
- Pupils have a great sense of belonging to the school community and value and respect others.
- Pupils are encouraged to take on roles of responsibility in the school and wider community. Some are members of the school and Eco councils. They also plan and lead Collective Worship.
- Pupils are actively involved in developing the Catholic character of the school. This is seen their involvement in the review of the Mission Statement which they live out each day as they value, respect and care for each other. They participate in termly Masses. They take part in carol concerts with other schools. They are generous in supporting local, national and international charities.
- Pupils benefit from participation in away days. Years five and six have residential trips to The Manor where they learn a variety of skills including social skills and team building. They have trips to the Transport Museum at Bury, the Spaceport Museum, Jaguar car factor and Beeston Castle.
- Pupils have a good sense of right and wrong and apply this in their personal relationships. They take an increasing responsibility for themselves and their actions.
- Education for pastoral care and personal relationships has fostered positive attitudes in pupils. This is given high priority in the school where there is a Pastoral Manager and a Nurture Room.
- They praise and acknowledge the contribution of others. They show a readiness to embrace and celebrate their lived experiences.
- Pupils embrace opportunities to meet their potential in all aspects of school life.
- Pupils are involved in service to the local faith and religious communities: They take part in termly Masses in church; they sing in carol concerts locally with other schools, they support local charities e.g. 'Joining Jack'. They show respect and understanding of other faiths and religions.

How well pupils' achieve and enjoy their learning in Religious Education

- On entry to school many children have a limited knowledge and understanding of the Catholic faith.

- They reflect in silence and join in community prayers appropriately and with confidence.
- They are becoming increasingly more confident preparing and leading worship.

The quality of teaching and how purposeful learning is in Religious Education

- The quality of teaching is consistently effective in ensuring that pupils are interested and engaged and make good progress. Teachers display good subject knowledge and deploy a range of teaching styles to motivate and inspire pupils.
- Teaching encourages pupil enjoyment of and enthusiasm for Religious Education.
- Teachers take into account pupils' prior learning and ensure differentiated tasks when planning so that the work consolidates, builds and extends their knowledge and understanding.
- Teachers provide opportunities for pupils to work independently and collaboratively. Good use is made of time and resources including other adults, ICT, cameras and task sheets to maximise learning.
- Pupils are informed of their progress both orally and through marking. Indications of how to improve could profitably be introduced into the marking of work. Effort and achievement are celebrated.
- The assessment of pupils work in Religious Education is good
- The school has good assessment strategies which provide accurate and detailed information on the achievement of all the pupils.
- Teachers are able to identify how well pupils are achieving and tackle underachievement.
- Some teachers enable pupils to evaluate their own work at the end of the lesson.

The extent to which the Religious Education Curriculum promotes pupils' learning

- The curriculum is good in meeting pupils' needs.
- The school using the Come and See programme recommended by the Archdiocese meets the requirements of the Curriculum Directory for Religious Education. Appropriate levels of the programme are being followed in different classes. This ensures complete Religious Education entitlement for each child and meets National and Archdiocesan requirements.

- Of the total curriculum time 10% is allocated to Religious Education. This fulfils the requirements of the Bishops of England and Wales.
- Planning ensures full coverage of the Religious Education programme. Imaginative and well planned strategies are deployed to enrich pupils learning.
- The school implements new curriculum developments as appropriate.
- Enrichment activities such as art and PE have a positive impact on the curriculum.
- The Religious Education curriculum provides good opportunities for pupils' spiritual, moral development and vocation.
- The curriculum is customised to meet the needs of groups and individuals.
- Children have explored the beliefs and values of other faiths and religions including Judaism and Islam. This helps to promote tolerance and respect for those who think differently. The school is now considering inviting speakers into school to talk about their faith and religion.

The quality of Collective Worship provided by the school.

- The Collective Worship provided is good in reflecting the Catholic character of the school and taking into account the variety of Faith backgrounds among the pupils.
- Collective Worship plays a good part in meeting the Spiritual needs of the pupils. Opportunities are provided to enable full, active and conscious participation of the whole school community.
- Children are enabled to pray formally and informally.
- The school has provided opportunities for staff to develop the skills in planning, leading and evaluating Collective Worship.
- The teachers provide the necessary resources and opportunities to help children to develop the skills necessary to plan, lead and participate in Collective Worship and to evaluate it.
- Opportunities are provided for parents, carers the local and wider Faith communities to participate in a variety of celebrations of the Come and See programme and the Church's liturgical year.

How well leaders, governors and managers promote, monitor and evaluate the provision for the Catholic Life of the school and plan and implement improvement to outcomes for pupils.

- Leaders, governors and managers are good in promoting and developing the Catholic life of the school and show a good understanding of, and commitment to the Mission of the Church.
- This is reflected in the Schools own Mission Statement. All who form part of the school community including parents, Priests, governors and children were involved in the development and review of the Mission Statement. Its aims and practical objectives direct and guide every aspect of school life and are a useful tool by which the school can evaluate its effectiveness.
- Leaders, governors and managers are good in the way they use monitoring data to evaluate the schools performance, celebrate, and plan future improvements. The quality of the monitoring of planning is good and helps with future planning. The monitoring of teaching is very good, supportive and helpful. The subject leader is good at leading and managing the subject.
- Good Opportunities are provided for the staff and pupils to play an active part in Catholic life and Mission of the school in the way they know, own and live out their Mission Statement and in the way they participate in Collective Worship.

- The Self Evaluation Document provides evidence of the schools monitoring, analysis and self challenge.
- Their analysis provides a basis to celebrate the schools strengths and outlining areas for development. The SED is accurate and is impacting on the Catholic life of the school.
- The school provides good induction and in-service training to enable staff to further understand the Church's Mission in Education and play their unique part in it. The subject leader helps newly qualified teachers and all are given opportunities to avail of in-service provided by the department for Christian Education. It is recommended that more staff be encouraged to follow the Catholic Certificate in Religious Studies course.
- The quality of Collective Worship is important for the school. It is effectively monitored and evaluated by Headteacher and coordinator. An up to date policy is in place.
- Leadership at all levels respects difference, values diversity and ensures equal opportunities for all.
- There are positive relationships at every level within the school.
- Parents are consulted regularly and involved in a variety of ways in the life of the school. They are invited to attend termly Masses and celebration assemblies. Some of the parents are also attending a 'Helping and Working in School' course which skills up parents to come and help in school working with the children both in school and at home.
- Governors are good in fulfilling their responsibilities. They have effectively helped to shape the direction of the school through their involvement in the review of the Mission Statement and their challenging support of all that goes on in school..
